Stonehouse Jack was created by friends, Pip (Guitarist & Vocalist) and Si (Bassist). They recorded the band's first home made demo EP — Dig Deeper (2016). Then, after attending a Music Producer's Guild event, they met music producer George Shilling who offered to produce and engineer Stonehouse Jack's next record.

The band launched a successful crowd funder in April 2017, securing match funding from Arts Council England to make a new 4 track EP and music video.

Jinba Ittai EP was recorded at Bank Cottage Studio in May 2017 with 4 tracks: Shadows, Ugly Moon, Jinba Ittai and Dig Deeper.

Stonehouse Jack (L-R): Pippa Try (Guitar & Vocals), Simon Hill (Bass Guitar), Paul Hennefer (Guitar) & Simon Cheshire (Drums)

The EP went on limited release on 7 August 2017 on Bandcamp. Wider release is coming later in 2017. The music video, directed by Jason Weidner was released on You Tube on December 8 2017.

The EP features Pip and Si, with Paul on 2nd guitar. It also features guest musicians Simon Young on drums and George Shilling on percussion. Stonehouse Jack's new permanent drummer, Simon Cheshire joined the band in August 2017.

The EP and music video is now available online at www.stonehousejack.com, and the band is looking forward to their first live gig with a full line up in early 2018.
